Puerto Rico Golf Association to Conduct 2019 Puerto Rico Open Qualifier Series

The Puerto Rico Golf Association in association with the Puerto Rico Open will host and conduct a series of qualifiers leading up to the PGA TOUR 2019 Puerto Rico Open at Coco Beach Golf & Country Club in Rio Grande, Puerto Rico, February 18-24, 2019.

We are pleased to announce the first qualifier will be played on the Sugarcane Course at TPC Dorado Beach October 19-21.

The 54-hole qualifier, a counting event for World Amateur Golf Ranking and part of the 2018 PRGA Stroke Play Series will count with a $1000 purse for the medalist ($750 if medalist is an amateur). As an added bonus, the Overall Winner (Low 54-hole score) in the Championship Flight will earn a spot to participate in the PGA TOUR's 2019 Puerto Rico Open.

The Qualifier is exclusive to all local professionals and amateurs from Puerto Rico and Puerto Rico Nationals.

This is a unique opportunity for all golfers from Puerto Rico to participate in a world-class event, which many of today's greatest and most popular golf professional players have participated in.
